Tucson

Welcome Amigos! Tucson is literally surrounded by exciting places to see. There is always a new experience awaiting the visitor for a few days or a couple of months.

Within the city are many museums and historic sites which give an insight into this part of Arizona's colorful past. The Arizona Historical Society, the Arizona State Museum, and the Fort Lowell Museum all offer excellent displays for the history buff.

Beyond Tucson proper are many more adventures which will make your visit even more memorable. The Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum offers visitors an informative look into the many varieties of life found in the desert. It is a combination zoo, aquarium, botanical garden, and natural history museum, and is a must for every visitor to Tucson. Motion picture fans will want to visit "Old Tucson", 12 miles and a hundred years from town. Columbia Pictures created Old Tucson in 1939 for the movie "Arizona", and since then it has been the home of hundreds of motion pictures, television shows, and commercials. The frontier West's rugged and romantic legacy is preserved in nearby Tombstone, "The Town Too Tough To Die", and the mysteries of the future unfold for the visitor at Kitt Peak National Observatory. The Grace Flandrau Planetarium at the University of Arizona offers a variety of dramatic public shows and educational programs to interest and delight visitors of all ages. The final dimension for a stay in Tucson can be added with a visit to Nogales, Sonora, Mexico. Nogales adds the flavor of a foreign country and is within easy driving distance of Tucson.
